WANTS A LIQUOR LICENSE

T. E. KROUSE AGAIN PETITIONS THE MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR.

Ascertains That a Decided Sentiment Exists in Favor of a License for the Waikiki Hotel.

Yesterday afternoon Thomas E. Krouse of the Arlington hotel filed another application with the Minister of the Interior for a liquor license in connection with the proposed new hotel at Waikiki, and with it presented a petition with 417 signatures asking that the license be granted. In seeking signatures to his petition, Mr. Krouse asked only those to sign whose autographs would carry some weight, and among the names will be found most of the representative business men, lawyers, doctors and statesmen of the city. The number of employees and prominent supporters of the government whose names are attached to the petition is significant.

Following is a copy of the document filed with the Interior office:

HONOLULU, September 28th, 1896.
JAMES A. KING, Minister of the Interior, Republic of Hawaii.

Sir:—Since filing my petition for a license to sell spirituous liquors at Waikiki, and receiving your reply thereto, the issues involved in that petition have been fully discussed, pro and con, in this City, which was not the case at the time my petition was filed and acted upon. Believing this discussion has developed a decisive sentiment in favor of granting the license among the responsible citizens and merchants of the City, I take the liberty of renewing herewith my application for this license upon the same lines and terms set forth in my original petition, and present herewith for your consideration a petition in favor of granting the same. I enclose also a copy of said petition, with the names of the signers, alphabetically arranged, and a photograph showing improvements to be made if the license is granted.

Enclosed please find also clippings taken from the only newspapers in Honolulu, which have been fit to express their sentiments, containing interviews with prominent citizens and business men relative to this proposition, and setting forth their arguments pro and con.

It is understood also that a counter petition will be filed against granting this or any other license for Waikiki which will probably fully set forth all of the reasons and arguments against such a step.

It is submitted that a careful consideration of the whole matter will lead to the conclusion that the objections to this license are the objections of those who believe that no license should be granted at Waikiki or anywhere else, and while entirely legitimate and appropriate from a prohibition standpoint, are not convincing or appropriate under an established and accepted license system like ours in the District of Honolulu.

It is submitted further that, so far as this district is concerned, it is proper that any locality within it should be licensed if there is a greater and more legitimate demand for license there than in many other localities in the city which have already been licensed, and if a refusal to license must inevitably be followed by continued illicit selling as will undoubtedly be the case here.

In this connection with this petition I beg further to submit to you for your consideration the following additional facts not set forth in my original petition. I have obtained control practically of the only premises at Waikiki large enough and otherwise suitable for the establishment of a first class hotel, with proper bathing facilities, unless one goes into a section of the beach which is occupied strictly for private residences, and where the publicity of a hotel would strenuously be objected to. (The lease of the Sans Souci will be up in a few months, the property having lately changed hands.)

I respectfully submit the counter propositions for a license at Waikiki should be considered only when coupled with the proposition to establish a hotel and bathing facilities, and only on satisfactory proof that the applicant has appropriate premises and proper backing to make his proposition good. Allow me also to suggest that parties may be willing to furnish meals, and run a hotel in name, merely to get the license. In other words, it would be a licensed saloon with a hotel in name attached thereto, and only enough spent on the hotel to furnish an excuse for perpetuating the license and saloon.

My proposition, however, involves an expenditure in the way of improvements of fully eleven thousand dollars (and in all likelihood it will run to fifteen thousand dollars), besides extensive improvements already there; the sum total involving an amount of capital that forbids its use merely to sustain a saloon.

I will accept the defeat of my proposition with perfect good grace if a license is granted to someone who will establish a first class hotel and bathing accommodations, and I recognize the justice of considering applications in the order they are made, providing the propositions are otherwise equal.

The granting of my petition will enhance the value of adjacent property, and this is recognized by the owners of the same, who are all favorable to this petition. The Tramways Company has volunteered to put on a fifteen minute service in place of the present thirty minute service as soon as the hotel is opened.

If my statement is challenged that I have control of the best location and accommodations for a hotel, or if any one claims to be able to do as well as I, I ask the privilege of appearing personally before you, and of proving my statements, and of having a chance to examine into and verify any counter propositions.

I beg also to submit the fact that, as the owner of the property is about to leave Honolulu, the present opportunity to afford hotel accommodations that are urgently needed as a public convenience, will be lost if the license asked for is refused, and an equal opportunity may probably not be available.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Salvation Army Tea.

IMPORTANT: There are very few things more hurtful than common tea. An eminent English doctor once said: "If the public gave up drinking common tea, the occupation of one half of our profession would be gone." Good tea, however, is refreshing and stimulating, and in introducing this article to the public, the officers of the Salvation Army have taken great pains to secure a tea, which can with the greatest confidence be recommended as being of the very highest standard of excellence, and have decided to sell it at a price within the reach of everybody, and although it will leave us a very small margin of profit indeed, we are satisfied, knowing that what we sell is sure to give satisfaction. Sold in 1 lb packets. Memorial Mixture, English Breakfast, Young Hyson, Japan, Oolong, Gunpowder, 30c; Auxiliary, 35c. Telephone 755. H. AN IMPOSING FUNERAL

JOSEPH NAWAHI'S REMAINS
TAKEN TO THE STEAMER.

A Long Procession of Native Mourners
Followed the Hearse—Government
Band and Escort of Police.

Large numbers of mourning friends of the late Joseph Nawahi visited the late residence of the deceased yesterday afternoon to pay their last respects. During the afternoon Major Potter, representing the government, called on the widow and tendered the services of the band and an escort of police, which were accepted. Arrangements were also made by which E. A. Williams took charge of the funeral.

The religious services at the house commenced at 12:30 this afternoon, lasting about an hour. They were conducted by Rev. E. S. Timoteo. The procession was then formed and the solemn cortege wended its way to the wharf in the following order:

The Undertaker
Guard of Police
Government Band
Women's Hawaiian Patriotic League
Officers of Women's Hawaiian Patriotic League
Officers of Hui Kalaiala
Men's Hawaiian Patriotic League
Committee of Hawaiian Patriotic League
and Hui Kalaiala
Officers of Hawaiian Patriotic League
Chairman of Executive Committee
Hui Kalaiala drawing the Hearse
Pall bearers
Chief Mourners
Friends and Acquaintances
The Public Generally

The pall bearers were S. K. Kane, R. W. Wilcox, W. C. Achi, S. M. Kaaukai, J. K. Kaunamano, F. J. Testa, David Dayton, J. L. Kaulokou, J. O. Carter, Chas. Creighton, J. K. Kanealii and E. K. Liliakani.

The native societies walked two abreast, there being between four and five hundred women in the ranks. The casket was draped with the Hawaiian flag and covered with floral offerings. The hearse was drawn by the Hui Kalaiala. In the procession, which was headed by a detachment of twenty-four police and the government band of twenty-six pieces, was a delegation from the Portuguese Benevolent Society. A long line of carriages and people on foot followed the hearse. King and Fort streets were crowded with natives while the cortege was en route.

Through the kindness of the Wilder Steamship Company, the steamer Hawaii will go direct to Hilo, touching only at Lahaina and Mahukona to land mails. Her freight will be discharged on the return trip. A large quantity of lumber was also left behind, so that the funeral arrangements might not be interfered with.

ONE OF LYCURGUS' JOKES.

(Communicated.)

One of the best jokes of the season has not as yet come to light in any of the Honolulu or San Francisco dailies, so here it is. While a prominent society family and young Mr. Whittier of San Francisco were stopping at Sans Souci some time ago there were many jokes continually going on between them and the jolly proprietor and bon vivant of that resort, George Lycurgus. So when the Australia started away with the party for the Bay City some weeks ago, besides many other floral souvenirs of our beautiful islands from the host of friends of the young ladies was one, the largest and prettiest of all, a huge basket of roses of great beauty. Now this basket looked larger than necessary but no one commented on that. Good byes were given, the leis were thrown back to laughing friends on the wharf, the band played on and the liner slowly pointed her nose across the harbor bar. The last gallants had a lingering look at Diamond Head and the sweet little nook of Sans Souci, where they had spent so many happy days, the young ladies settled down in their steamer chairs and young Whittier took a fresh cocktail, lit a cigarette and commenced to meditate on a prospective honeymoon. So the afternoon passed away. Dinner was announced and afterwards a deck promenade with a concert in the saloon for those who had not succumbed. About eight bells one of the young ladies went to her room to cast another look at the exquisite Lycurgus floral basket. Soon she came running back, breathless and pale. "Mamma, there is something moving in that basket," "Nonsense," replied her mother. "Yes, there is; I'm sure there is," replied the young lady. Visions of mongooses, big rats and centipedes possessed the party. Armed with canes Mr. Whittier and several gentlemen accompanied the young lady to her stateroom. Sure enough there it was. The mass of flowers were wriggling about in a most mysterious way. One of the brave ones was about to ram his cane into the basket when a plaintive "Baa, baa," arrested him. The young ladies rushed forward and removing the big lot of flowers on top they uncovered as beautiful a little white goat as ever browsed on Punchbowl lantana, snugly lying in the bottom of the basket. Around its neck was an infant's nursing bottle, while a can of fresh milk showed that the donor had not forgotten what a kid wants. Well, there was laughing and fizz all around till elbows wearied in washing down Dicky's health. For Dicky he was straight way named, and coddled by all the dear girls on board to his heart's content. During the whole voyage the Punchbowl kid pranced around the deck in glee, shedding a tear once and awhile as he thought of his mamma Nanny chewing aa and tomato cans out near the quarry at home. Dicky is now an inmate of a fashionable Van Ness avenue mansion in San Francisco and lives on the fat of the land.

JUDICIARY JOTTINGS.

Motion to Quash Writ of Error—The Levy Bankruptcy.

The Supreme Court has denied defendant's motion for a continuance in R. N. Boyd vs. J. W. Kaikainahe.

C. V. Sturdevant by his attorneys, Kinney & Ballou, files a motion to quash the writ of error of the Hawaiian Tramways Company, with reference to judgment for illegal collection of fare.

Christina Gilliland has rendered two years' account of her guardianship of the Gilliland minors, showing receipts $856 50, payments $840 89, balance $15 61.

In the Levy bankruptcy case, Theo. H. Davies & Co. Ltd. have filed a replication to the answer of H. Lose, assignee. Judge Perry is hearing the case on the general merits this afternoon.

Viewed the Body.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon Coroner Hitchcock empaneled the following jury to inquire into the circumstances of the death of the Chinese boy who was shot by Ah Fat yesterday: B. Ordenstein, J. Radin, Jas. Quinn, J. Brown, D. K. Dayton and Louis Meyer. The jury were driven to the hospital where they viewed the remains, after which the inquest was postponed to 10 a. m. tomorrow.

President Dole.

The President did not return from Hawaii by the steamer Hawaii on Sunday as stated in this paper yesterday. The steamer conveyed President Dole and Mrs. E. P. Low and two children from Mahukona to Kiholo on the Kona coast. One who ought to have known the fact, however, informed this paper positively that the President came to town by the Hawaii.

The battleship Texas was got off the beach at Newport without damage.

BOGUS PROVISION STORE

GROTESQUE SWINDLING SCHEME
IN SAN FRANCISCO.

An Investor Pays a Woman $200 for Sausages Stuffed with Balloon Juice, etc.

Buying bolognas stuffed with wind instead of sausage meat is not a profitable investment, as John Daly of 434 Jessie street can testify, says the San Francisco Examiner. A few days ago Mr. Daly bought a half interest in a delicatessen store at 304 Fourth street from Mrs. Martha Evarett, paying $200 for his share of the stock and good will. He saw her advertisement in a daily paper and thought the store would be a desirable buy for a gentleman who wanted to embark in business.

Before purchasing John went down and looked at the place, which fairly reeked with good things. Along the walls hung rows of nice fat sausages and hams and smoked fish, while the shelves held dozens of cans of corned beef. There were kegs of ostensible tripe and pigsfeet, dried beef, cheese and tins of pickled goods. Mrs. Evarett showed her partner a large consignment of eggs in cases and barrels of butter, and pointed with pride to a robust porcelain pig rooting in a plate of uncooked beans in the window, after the manner of pigs in delicatessen stores.

Thinking that the place contained at least $500 worth of stock, Mr. Daly bought in and took charge of the store. His partner wanted to go to the country for a few days and was perfectly willing to trust him. The first morning John opened up he alleges that he made a discovery. He shifted the egg cases and found that only the top layers bore fruit. The rest of the paste-board pigeon holes were hollow mockeries. Sawdust took the place of flesh and bone in the ham covers and the rolls of butter were empty cans rolled in damp cheese cloth. The 400 bottles wrapped in pink tissue paper and supposed to contain wine and beer proved to be nothing but unfiltered Spring Valley water.

But the crudest sham of all was the sausages. The sleek brown skins were filled with wind, and each one was ballasted with a bullet to prevent the sausage from floating up against the ceiling, like a toy balloon. It was the same way with everything else. The cans were all empty and the pickled tripe department was a delusion and a snare. Mr. Daly soon retired from business and will sell the counter and shelves at a discount.

Mrs. Evarett, alias Gotching, was arrested last night on Folsom street by Detective Dillon and locked up at the City Prison on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. She will not make any statement.

The Title Note.

Bob Scott, who takes the leading role in "Ole Olson," to be produced at the drill shed on Saturday evening next, has been identified with that character for a long time. The writer has at hand a portion of a copy of a Houston, Texas, paper of some years back, giving the cast of the play and a criticism in which Mr. Scott's rendition of the character is spoken of in unstinted terms of praise. Doubtless the performance at the drill shed will be as amusing and interesting as anything we have seen for a couple of years.

Melville Marx, one of the three proprietors of the Columbia theater, San Francisco, is at the Hawaiian hotel. He will probably arrange for the presentation of future attractions at the Irwin opera house.
